EX-PREMIER PARKER, whose ability to manage his own affairs is having such signal illustrations, is a man who has no doubt, and of whom the Royalists profess no doubt, as to his capacity to guide the complicated concerns of the Hawaiian nation. Mr. Parker is also the statesman whom Claus Spreckels, in his wisdom, mentioned for President of the proposed but discarded republic. He may be accepted as a fair sample of what the Royalist party has to offer in an official way to take the places of such men as Dole, Damon, Smith, King, Wilder, Thurston and the rest who are now at the head of Hawaiian administration. Familiarity with this sort of thing has perhaps robbed many kamamias of the proper appreciation of its humor and absurdity; but the time must come when all people here will look back with rigid amazement to the era when champagne fizz and twenty-cent-on-the-dollar in-payment statesmanship was permitted to have its way unmoled. The whole thing seems incomprehensible now to an outsider.

THERE seems to be an organized scheme to rouse the hatred of the natives against the Provisional Government on the subject of leprosy. First we had the Royalist intrigue in the Board of Health to start the troops after the lepers in the Kalaau Valley and thus antagonize their native friends; and now comes Trousseau's letter declaring that leprosy cannot be communicated from man to man. Of course Dr. Trousseau is too good a physician not to know that such a theory is contradicted by the facts—facts which he has himself testified to in the past—and we can imagine no other object of the strange screed than to lead the Hawaiians to believe that there is no need of further segregation, and to make them detest the Government which insists on the contrary view.

AN entertaining article might be prepared upon the motives of the Americans in this city who are out against annexation. The list of these worthies is not large, indeed it is very small, but it is none the less useful for analysis on that account. In one or two cases a Royalist revival would be productive in promised loaves and fishes, the latter agreeably raw; but as a rule the politics of the Yankee renegades are inspired by a fear that annexation would put a couple of revenue cutters on these coasts and spoil the trade in opium. More talk of the sort heard in local American circles against annexation is induced by the memory of the good old days of tolerated smuggling than any one could imagine; and look where one may, it would be difficult to find a higher motive.

J. O. CARTER has resigned from the Board of Health and caused a vacancy which ought to be filled by a man who is in sympathy with the Government he serves. It would be gratifying to hear that a vacancy had been similarly made and supplied in the office of Port Physician. There are plenty of annexationist doctors in town.

THE danger in France seems to have been averted, at least for the present, but there is too much combustible material lying about to make the Car not administration a safe insurance risk.

THE episode of the cane may now await the succeeding chapters to be supplied by the San Francisco press.

FOR STATE'S RIGHTS.

A Remarkable Political Speech by Prince Bismarck.

BERLIN, July 9.—About four hundred excursionists from the principality of Lippe visited Prince Bismarck at Friedrichsruhe to-day. Both the Prince and Princess appeared on the balcony of the castle. Prince Bismarck made a notable speech concerning the relations of the smaller Federal States to the Empire, and concluded with these remarkable words:

"There are seventeen Federal States having only a single vote each in the Federal Council. The Council may be divided in three categories—small States with a vote each, Prussia with eighteen votes, and the middle States with twenty-four votes. Thus you see what weight the small States have. All that I am expressing to you is surprise over the fact that the national idea has not caught fire in the parliaments and governments of the federated States, as twenty or twenty-five years ago I hoped it would.

"My fear and anxiety for the future is that the national idea may be stifled in the coils of the boa constrictor of bureaucracy, which has grown rapidly in the last few years. Only the Federal Council and the Reichstag can help here and the former has the right to assert itself. It would be possible then for the governments of the smaller States to express opinions, to which no official attention is now paid.

"I sum up all these reflections thus: God preserve for us the Constitution of the empire as it is and the present Federal Governments that form the Federal Council, that the latter may at all times stand by the side of the Reichstag as a legislative coefficient of absolutely equal rank, with absolutely equal rights."

The strong states rights sentiments expressed in this speech aroused as much surprise as enthusiasm.

TROOPS FOR 'ESQUIMAULT.

A Sensational Story in Connection With Behring Sea Matters.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—A statement is printed here, based upon a letter from an English army officer to a wealthy Englishman sojourning in San Francisco, that contingency orders have been issued to the fifth battalion of the Royal Rifle brigade, now at Davenport, England, to hold itself in readiness to proceed to Victoria for colonial station duty. The battalion numbers four thousand men and is one of the best organized and most efficient in the British service. The letter further says that the powerful British ship Minotaur has also been specially commanded to duty at Esquimault, and the commander of the ship has been appointed naval commandant. The commander of the Royal brigade has been made commander of the Esquimault station, succeeding dock yard superintendent and Colonel Prior, of the Canadian forces, who has heretofore held both posts. Two battalions of Royal Marine artillery are also under orders for station duty at Victoria, and the Canadian authorities are said to be devising measures to overhaul and put Esquimault harbor in a more complete defensive condition. The British officer writes his friend to inquire after the climate and general situation and the manner of living at Esquimault, and seems to indicate that this sudden activity on the part of the British authorities has direct connection with the Behring sea controversy. From the tone and language of the letter the San Francisco Englishman believes that England anticipates an unfavorable termination of the Behring sea arbitration, and proposes to place herself in a position to defend and enforce what she considers her rights in the seal properties. The recent arrival of the war vessel Royal Arthur at Esquimault, with Admiral Stevenson aboard, and these unusual movements of British forces appear to lend some tinge of probability to the story.

DESPERATE AUSTRALIANS.

Heavy Failures and Widespread Idleness Causing Trouble.

NEW YORK, July 9.—A Vancouver special to the World says: People out of work are in open rebellion in Sydney and British Australia. The steamship Warrimoo brings word that the recent failures of banks stopped payment for many public works. Contractors and laborers have become desperate, and, re-enforced by tradespeople who have lost heavily on account of the widespread idleness, compel the police to adopt conciliatory measures in dealing with them. The flower of the Australian militia is now in England, hence the rioters are more boisterous.
